Have you signed into your volunteer account lately?
In order for researchers to locate you, make sure your profile is up to date.

Visit Our Website

Stay Connected
You are the best representative of ResearchMatch. With your help, we can attract more volunteers and make even more medical progress! Please share this page with your friends on Social Media:

Find us on: Facebook, Twitter, YouTube & Instagram

Congratulations to our Partner FARE!

Our partner, FARE (Food Allergy Research and Education) is proud to announce it has received a Eugene Washington Engagement Award from the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI). Part of this two-year project will include developing a partnership of patients empowered to work with other key stakeholders on a new Outcomes Research Advisory Board.

Patient representatives - parents of children with food allergies or adults with food allergies - will provide their unique perspectives into research topics.

If you are a ResearchMatch volunteer who has reported a food allergy in your list of conditions, and are interested in finding out more information about FARE and the advisory board, please visit the FARE website by clicking the button below:

Learn More

Good News!

There may be new ResearchMatch institutions near you.

In May ResearchMatch Celebrated National Women’s Health Week!
National Women’s Health Week starts each year on Mother’s Day to encourage women to make their health a priority. Take these steps, from the CDC, to live a safer and healthier life.

"Protect your health by getting the care you need to prevent disease, disability, and injuries. Regular check-ups are important. Preventive care can keep disease away or detect problems early, when treatment is more effective. Talk to your health care provider to learn more about what screenings and exams you need and when." - CDC

1. Get Moving! Try to get up and move.
2. Enjoying Eating Healthy Foods, get fresh seasonal fruits and vegetables to add to your weekly meals.
3. Be Aware of your Mental Health, make sure to get enough sleep, and manage your stress.
4. Practice Healthy Behaviors, like wearing sunscreen.

ResearchMatch and partner ADAA are raising awareness during National Mental Health Month.

"Most people feel anxious or depressed at times. Losing a loved one, getting fired from a job, going through a divorce, and other difficult situations can lead a person to feel sad, lonely, scared, nervous, or anxious. These feelings are normal reactions to life’s stressors.

But some people experience these feelings daily or nearly daily for no apparent reason, making it difficult to carry on with normal, everyday functioning. These people may have an anxiety disorder, depression, or both.

It is not uncommon for someone with an anxiety disorder to also suffer from depression or vice versa. Nearly one-half of those diagnosed with depression are also diagnosed with an anxiety disorder. The good news is that these disorders are both treatable, separately and together." - ADAA.org
Learn More, or find help at ADAA.org or by clicking the button below.

Tell A Friend

https://www.researchmatch.org/volunteers/tellafriend or Click Below!

1. Fill out a few basic questions about yourself or the person you wish to register.
2. Create your unique username and password that only you will know.
3. Tell us a bit more about your health background. (Your responses are optional.)
4. Submit your profile to ResearchMatch.

www.researchmatch.org | info@researchmatch.org

Copyright © 2014. All Rights Reserved.