

STOHN STUDENT INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

ABOUT US

STOHN is a practice-based research network (PBRN) that works hand in hand with the National Dental Practice-Based Research Network (NDPBRN), dedicated to developing a research infrastructure for generating practical and timely information to enhance the quality and efficacy of oral health care. The STOHN PBRN at UT Health San Antonio provides a worksite in collaboration with the UTSA Public Health Internship Program for undergraduate students through the Department of Periodontics. The goal of the STOHN internship site is to provide learning experiences where concepts and skills gained through academic study can be applied to a work setting. The STOHN internship is completed both virtually and in person at the South Texas Research Facility at the Greehey Academic & Research Campus.

OUR INTERNS

The intern will work closely with principal investigators, coordinators, and study staff. A variety of oral health topics are covered through this program, including but not limited to post-operative pain, smokeless tobacco, bruxism, E-cigarette cessation, and so on. Students will assist in current, ongoing studies in the office and participate in engaging community members, participate in weekly meetings, presentations, research papers, and take part in generating study materials as needed.

REQUIREMENTS

1. Interview with Internship Supervisor
2. Submit an application, Agency Information, and Background check forms
3. Review the Student Internship Curriculum
4. Complete a research paper over a project or assigned study
5. Work the required hours per week set by the Internship Supervisor

IDEAL FOR STUDENTS INTERESTED IN PUBLIC HEALTH, DENTAL HYGIENE, OR DENTISTRY!

Internship Overview

- Dental Research experience
- Professionalism
- Communication Skills
- Improve Scientific writing skills
- Coordinate Practice- Based Research Studies Impact Public Health

Interested students please contact:

Caitlin Sangdahl

Network Coordinator

sangdahl@uthscsa.edu

Dr. Rahma Mungia

STOHN Director, Internship Supervisor

mungia@uthscsa.edu

FOR MORE INFORMATION VISIT
<https://iims.uthscsa.edu/ce/stx-oral-health-network/student-internship-program/>